DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. The application has been forwarded to the Examiner by the 3700 SPRE Shop (via SPRE Henry C. Yuen) to construe the petition filed July 26, 2007 as a request for reconsideration.
2. Upon review and consideration a new election of species is hereby required. Applicant's proposed modification, in which Applicant elects one species from each category, is adopted. As proposed by Applicant, the five categories are (1) Species A and B; (2) Species C and D; (3) Species E and F; (4) Species G and H; and (5) Species I and J.

Election/Restrictions

3. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species, comprising:

Species A: a cutout formed entirely in one of the front and rear body panel webs, the cutout removing a portion of body panel material from the web, as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species B: a cutout with at least a portion of the cutout formed in each of the front and rear body panel webs, the cutout removing a portion of body panel material from the web, as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species C: a cutout having a substantially circular shape as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species D: a cutout having a substantially oval shape as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species E: a web in which the first and second cut edges are non-linear as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species F: a web in which the first and second cut edges are substantially linear as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species G: a crotch member is connected to the garment side surface of each of the front and rear body panel webs as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species H: a crotch member is connected to the body side surface of each of the front and rear body panel webs as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species I: a web cutting is performed separately from and after forming the cutout in the web as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

Species J: a web cutting is performed separately from and before forming the cutout in the web as generically disclosed in Claim 1.

4. The species within each category are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

5. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species from each of the following five categories of species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable: one of Species A and B; one of Species C and D; one of Species E and F; one of Species G and H; and one of Species I and J. Currently, Claim 1 is generic.

6. There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species within each category due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species in each category to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

8. The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

9. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species within each category are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

10. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.
